President Poincare's visit to the fusin is confismed through a telegram he sent to King George saying he had visited Field Marshal French at British headquarters.

He shares in all, to Mr. Billard, "to be held in secret frust for the benefit of the company."

This was done, the complaint recites, to avoid possible litigation, so the transaction was entered on the books of the New Haven road and the New England Navigation Company as a bona fide sale at the rate of $125 a share. The books showed payment of $11.000,000 and unsecured notes of Mr. Billard for $2,743,500.

The amount factually was obtained
